Is Elected Representation Dead?

Editorial, D.C.J.

Of every dollar collected in taxes on property in the Town of Mattapoisett 93.8% goes to finance the school system, or 61¢ out of the total tax dollar. Historically, the town has been among the most generous supporters of school construction and instruction. School children have never been shortchanged financially. It has long been contended that money is the key to the highest quality of education. This is a debatable point. The facts are, however, that the town has always paid for the best.

This year the Finance Committees of Mattapoisett, Rochester and Marion ob-

This is not a singling out of that system. Every expenditure in every department of town government had been the subject of the most careful paring. The refusal of this request leads to a confrontation which is distasteful to all who have supported Old Rochester before and since it was built. To the last moment a compromise was hoped for. By a last minute vote of 7 to 2 the School Committee refused a reduction of the budget.

We have long wondered, if the commitment to the young of the town is totally within the school system and ends as they graduate. Do we say then, "You can't afford to live in this community so get out." In effect, that's what we are doing. President Carter's economic policy which has resulted in prohibitive mortgage interest rates puts new home ownership out of reach of any young couple starting out. Our own property tax is forcing rental property beyond their grasp. The fact is that most graduates of our Regional High School cannot afford to enjoy roots here. This has come about by various pressures but in large measure the mandate power of the state which has priced education beyond reasonable limits. What the town does not need is an elected local set of dictators. Because the only means of control on the local level is the Regional School Committee, it is imperative that that body be responsive to the homeowner when the homeowner says, "Hold it, we have reached all the limit that we can handle."

President Carter has already indicated consideration of an end to Revenue Sharing. If this rug is pulled out from under the town the shock could be extremely grave. Carter's policy on gasoline and fuel oil project that a hard winter may be a nightmare. Governor King is reportedly looking favorably on another 10¢ Massachusetts hike in gasoline taxes. The homeowner is under multiple economic pressure.

What we do not need is a civil war. What we do not need is people elected to serve as representatives of the taxpayer who consider themselves infallible powers unto themselves. When taxpayers appear at town meeting the School Committee budget is set before them not for consideration but only for a rubber stamp. If the School Committee will not respond to the people in charge of our financial health, then the town has no control and no recourse open to it.

For that reason, Mattapoisett Town Meeting has reluctantly voted to withhold money from that budget. If the towns of Marion and Rochester should decide to support their own Finance Committees and do the same, perhaps we can demonstrate to the Regional School Committee that they do represent the homeowner. This one fact is more vital to the future than any money. If, indeed, townspeople do not have any control over 93% of their property tax, they have no reason for going to the town meeting at all.

Letters to the Editor

LETTER TO THE EDITOR

The April 1st Standard-Times report of the Rochester Selectmen's meeting has brought to light the continuing antics of one Selectman which again degrade the office of Selectmen and embarrasses the Town of Rochester.

These two professional people were publicly criticized and torn apart. As a former town official, I am aware that these two people have provided dedicated and personal service to Rochester for many years and I think this should be brought to the attention of the townspeople. This Selectman claimed the town engineer is paid $250.00 a month and is never available. The truth of the matter is that this man or his qualified staff have always responded to Rochester's needs. A call to his office has been sufficient to bring about the desired results not only for the Board of Selectmen, but Board of Health, Planning Board, Conservation Commission, Highway Surveyor and the School Committee. Sunday sessions with Selectmen to visit earth removal sites have been the norm, not the unusual for this man. He has made himself available for Saturday and evening meetings whenever necessary for meetings with Conservation Commission members, or for any other purpose. These things and many others are all done for the same pay which only this year was raised to the magnificent sum of $250 a month. This is the man who is "never available".

In a similar vein, the bill for legal services is called astronomical. The bill, representing a year's work, also covered services for many different Boards and many different issues. Apparently no effort was made to compare this bill with amounts spent by other towns for legal counsel, nor was it compared to other legal services being paid for by the town such as within the School Committee budget. Professional services of any kind are not cheap. In a town that is growing as rapidly as Rochester, would it be preferable to shop around for cut-rate legal service or use inept or semi-professional engineering services? It makes as much sense as choosing a physician on the basis of his charge for office calls.

It is a sad commentary that this constant negativism and general character assassination goes on and on and is done under the guise of "running the town like a business". Word of the hazards of doing business with the Town of Rochester will spread very quickly. What reputable person or firm will want to chance working for the town knowing that for their efforts they can expect adverse publicity and damaging notoriety?

Former Selectman
Greenwood Hartley, Jr.

OPEN LETTER

It was erroneously reported that the $8 projected increase in our tax rate was due to the Old Rochester Regional budget. In fact, the Old Rochester budget represents only $1.21 of that $8. As a result of the action taken at town meeting, the rate is still being increased by $7. Based on last year's figures, our tax rate will rise from $68/thousand to $75/thousand. The Old Rochester budget, which you rejected, would have made the tax figure $76.

Many people have been misled by erroneous and confusing statements in the press. Many town meeting members were misguided by our appointed finance committee that only participated with the school committee in two of the nine budget discussions. In spite of that limited involve-

They were quickly supported by our Selectmen, none of whom attended any Old Rochester School Committee meetings. All of this was in opposition to the group ELECTED to do the job. Regular public meetings are held throughout the year. They are indeed open to everyone. Nobody came to observe, listen or contribute. Where were you people when we looked into matters of curriculum for the programs to be offered to our students? Where were you when the financial advisory committee was explaining its views on establishing an energy fund rather than have the towns borrow at exorbitant interest rates? Every meeting since the middle of January has included some discussion of the budget. Where were you people then, when a positive contribution might have been made? To a room filled only with committee members, administrators, and members of the press, Mr. Santos, Old Rochester's business manager, regularly reviews the financial statements to show the current status of each account. Where were the taxpayers last year when we agreed to the finance committee's requests for reductions and listened to what those compromises would cost us in the future? either go out of business or you buy it the next year at an inflated cost. Well, next year is here!

Yes, the total budget is up 18.3%. We have reduced that by applying some surplus revenue and receipts so that the amount to be assessed to the towns has risen by only 6.5%. Mattapoisett's share of that increase is 4.7%. The School Committee does this right up front in its budget. The town acts on its budget and other articles in the warrant and then applies money from the stabilization fund and free cash to reduce its assessments. The bottom line in the case of the regional school budget is a 4.7% increase over last year. The bottom line in the case of the town budget is in excess of 7%.

As an elected school committee member I am appalled that the public, which had not participated all year long would vote to reduce the school budget on the recommendation of a committee with such limited knowledge of the budgets and the needs.

As a taxpayer, I am unable to understand the wisdom of cutting the school budget on the one hand, and allowing the other departments to greatly increase theirs on the other.

As a parent, I am concerned about reducing the quality of the education for the young people of our community.

Health Services, Carpentry, Drafting, Machine Shop, Offset Printing, and Welding shops were open.

Many girls had an opportunity to try out shops not open to the traditional woman. Girls took part in the Auto Mechanics, Electricity, Electronics, Carpentry, Machine Shop, and Welding programs.

The purpose of girls attending non-traditional shops is to increase their awareness of the opportunities in these career areas and to give them a greater appreciation for these trades. Boys also had an opportunity of exploring Health Services for the same reasons.

About 85 students from Mattapoisett and 47 students from Rochester took part in the program. Many students brought the projects they had completed home with them.

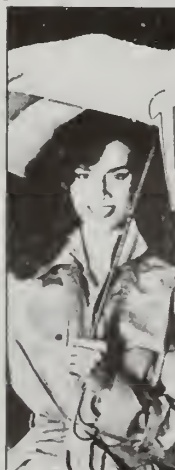

Later on this spring, 6th grade students from Mattapoisett and Rochester will also have an opportunity to attend this program.

VACATION PROGRAMS

The Museum will be closed Tuesday, April 22nd, for staff holiday.

The Children's Museum is offering a week of programs to accommodate Spring Vacation, the week of April 20th.

On Wednesday, April 23rd, we will take a short trip to a goat farm. Mr. and Mrs. Joe Silveira from Russells Mills raise Nubian goats from Egypt. The goats are raised for show and have won many prizes all over the world. They are also raised for milk, and the Silveiras sell goat milk right there on their farm. All the goats, from grand-nannies to newborn kids, will be on hand to delight the children, and the Silveiras will talk about caring for their herd, breeding and feeding. Please call the Museum if you wish to join us.

On Thursday, April 24th, we will meet a ferret. Karen McAfee from the Buttonwood Park Zoo will bring her ferret to the Museum. The ferret, a relative of the weasel, is a

TOBEY CHAPLAINS' DAY APRIL 20

The second annual Tobey Chaplains' Day will be observed in area churches on Sunday, April 20. The clergy of the Roman Catholic and Protestant parishes of the area work together to provide services for the patients and staff members of Tobey Hospital. Mrs. Goddard's appointment marks an upgrading of the ministry of the Tobey Chaplains' Committee, which is composed of all the area clergy, providing a consistency which was impossible before with several clergy carrying the load.

35th Annual Show, April 26, at New Bedford High School.

Formed in 1974, the Bluegrass Student Union lends a youthful and exciting sound to traditional Barbership harmonies. Al, Ken, Rick and Dan all come from Barbership families which means they literally grew up with the art form. The "Kids" as they became affectionately known by their chorus members, showed their potential early by winning the Cardinal District contest in '74, the youngest quartet ever to take top honors in that district. Their first chance at the International contest came in 1976, and they made good use of that chance by winning a fourth place medal at the convention in San Francisco. After dropping back to sixth place in '77, the Bluegrass Student Union rose to the pinnacle of the Barbership world in Cincinnati in 1978 by winning the championship just a few hours after their chorus had also won the International contest. Louisville is the first chapter to hold both the chorus and quartet championships in the same year.

points out that older men aren't the only ones who enjoy barbership quartet singing. In fact, it says a lot about the legacy of the Society's founders since the quartet is probably the first "second generation" group to win the international contest. These young men are serious about Barbershopping and they don't miss any opportunity to present their own exhilarating brand of one of America's true art forms.

A supporting quartet for this year's show will be New Bedford's own past District Champions, "The Nautical Notes".

The theme for this year's show will be "Nostalgia", whereby the chorus will remi-
